TIME ENTRY TRAINING DOCUMENT

WELCOME TO THE ON-LINE TIME REPORTING SYSTEM

We believe you will find the technology for entering time to be a resourceful way to report your daily time and have it approved. It will also be a mechanism for maintaining and reviewing your history, and viewing your pay date information.

ENTERING, SAVING, AND APPROVING YOUR TIME

It is suggested that you enter and save your work hours each day. However, you can go into the system any time you have internet access by the specified deadlines.

At the minimum, your time needs to be entered weekly. To insure payment during the current biweekly pay period, you will need to have your weekly time in the system and saved by 9pm on Monday of the following work week.

Any time reporting that you have entered and saved can be reviewed, and potentially approved, by your manager within a few hours. The sooner you enter your time, the more time your manager has to review and resolve any questions regarding your time entry. Payroll is not responsible for time that is not entered into the system by the deadline listed above.

You are only to enter time that has been worked. If time entered does not accurately reflect your work, it may result in action by the College.

Staff not entering their time by the deadline must discuss the situation with their supervisor. No extraordinary steps will be taken to pay time not submitted via the electronic time entry by the deadlines published.

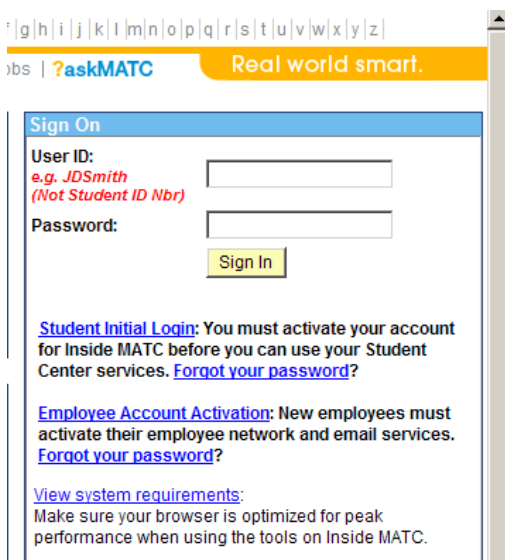

If you require special accommodations, please complete the form requesting consideration, located at this link: <http://intranet.matcmadison.edu/forms-db/forms/MATCAccommodationRequestForm.doc> or by calling the Human Resources office at (608) 246-6900.
